20 MORE TROOPS SLAIN IN MINE WAR READY IN IULSTER

NEW YORK, April 28.—Eaton Sinclair, the socialist author, his wife and three other women, were arrested today after a demonstration at the office of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in the Standard Oil Building. They had come to protest against the Colorado strike.

A woman, who described herself as Mrs. Belle S. Sherman and a Socialist, invaded the office of Mr. Rockefeller, and sought to interview him with reference to the coal miners' strike in Colorado. Mr. Rockefeller's secretary told her he was busy at a conference.

The prisoners were taken to the Old Ship station, where Mrs. Sinclair was released.

The other women, who were placed in cells pending their arraignment in court, said they were Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman, an English suffragette who has once been in jail with Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst; Mrs. Margaret Remington Charter and Mrs. Dolores Linger. All had been arrested on the sidewalk in front of No. 26 Broadway.

DUBLIN, April 28.—Sixty soldiers were ordered today to prepare for immediate departure for Belfast. The troops will co-operate with the naval forces to stop the smuggling of arms to the Ulster volunteers.

BELFAST, April 28.—The Gordon of warships thrown across Ireland by the British government is back the operations of "gun-runners" smuggling arms and munitions to the Ulster volunteers. A strong force of the British navy arrived in Bangor Bay and dropped anchor.

This fleet was the most imposing armada that England has sent to curb the hostile Ulster.

The squadron included five destroyers that can run down the fastest smuggling ship and gunboats that can operate in shore and capture contraband supplies.

Wild excitement was caused here by the news of the arrival of the warships. Reports were circulated that the vessels had brought troops who would be landed in case the soldiers of Ireland refused to take any action against the people of Ulster.

In the meantime the sea was swarmed to all the Ulster harbors. The vessels had brought troops who would be landed in case the soldiers of Ireland refused to take any action against the people of Ulster.

Reconsideration of Liquor Bill Killed

A motion to reconsider the bill to abolish high class liquor licenses was defeated in the House today by a voice vote. The bill was adjourned reported yesterday.

Fear 20 Drowned in Lake Superior Wreck

DULUTH, Minn., April 28.—Twenty sailors are believed to have lost their lives when the steamer Benjamin Noble sank in Lake Superior early today. Tugs have been sent out to seek for survivors.

George Ade's Father Dies

VALPARAISO, Ind., April 28.—John Ade, seventy-five, of Kentland, Ind., father of George Ade, the playwright, fell dead in the hall where the Republican Tent district convention was held.

MEXICO CITY, April 28.—An army coup d'etat resulting in the overthrow of President Huerta is threatened. Huerta has broken with General Blanquet, his Minister of War. Attaches of the National Palace are reported to be securing all railroad cars that are available, indicating that Huerta is preparing to leave the city.

There is an ominous calm here. There have been no anti-American demonstrations for forty-eight hours. The troops appear sullen, and rumors of a revolt are heard on every hand. Representatives of General Zapata announced today that he will reach the capital before Saturday. Friends of the bandit leader declare he will join hands with Huerta against the United States.

VERA CRUZ, April 29.—Graphic stories of suffering and narrow escape from death were told here today by American refugees who have just arrived from interior points of Mexico. Prowling bands of Mexican federalists, rebels and robbers took turns at inflicting outrages upon the persons and property of foreigners.

A train bearing American and other foreign refugees from Mexico City was reported missing today, but Rear Admiral F. F. Fletcher hopes that the train was switched upon the tracks leading to Puerto, Mexico. An attaché of the British consulate who left for Mexico City last night reported by telegraph that he had found no trace of the missing refugees train, which strengthened the belief that it was switched to another division. If the train had been wrecked traces of the outrage would have been found.

Stories of Brutality and Outrage.

The story of the refugees is the story of midnight raids by bands of armed and mounted outlaws, the story of incendiary fires darkening the sky by day and illuminating the darkness of night with their glare, the story of death threats, inflicted alike upon men, women and children arrests, brutality and outrage.

The latest batch of refugees from interior points numbered 139. Fourteen came from El Petrero, sixty-three from Colonia Medina, twenty from Tlaxcala, five from Vista Hermosa and the remainder from Cordoba, where the jail has been crowded with foreign prisoners for weeks.

These points lie along the western border of the State of Vera Cruz and in Oaxaca.

The journey of the homeless wanderers was one of constant hardships. Gaunt men and women ill from lack of food, thirst and exhaustion.

Funston Gets News He Is Happy Father

VERA CRUZ, April 29.—Brigadier-General Funston was busily occupied after breakfast in writing dispatches, most of them to the War Department. There was at least one of them, however, which had nothing to do with the army or the Government. It was a reply to a dispatch telling him of the birth of a daughter in the United States.

White Captain Rose was waiting to see General Funston when he took a second official meeting of the State and Mexico. The American flag, for the first time since 1912, was raised over the tower of the fortress of San Juan de Ula, from which the Mexican colors had been removed yesterday.

ATTACH BANK IN MIDDLESEX JAIL THEFT

The muddy waters of Middlesex County politics were badly riled today by word of a $28,000 attachment against the Lechmere National Bank of West Cambridge, filed by District Attorney William J. Corcoran for the County Commissioners. In an attempt to recover money uncollected by Fred Smith, bookkeeper at the East Cambridge Jail, who died the day his books were to have been examined. A $28,000 suit against Sheriff John F. Farnham is already pending, and is returnable in June.

SPECULATE ON MAN FOR PEARSON'S JOB AS BILL PEARSON WALSH

Talks on Pearson bill began to speculate today concerning Governor Walsh's probable action for Adjutant-General.

The Governor will give an indication of what is in his mind in this direction. Until the "Adjutant-General" bill is safely out of the Senate and lying upon the executive table, the Governor will not discuss the matter.

It appeared to be the consensus of opinion today that Adjutant-General Gardner W. Pearson has taken his ground in declining that he is ready to step down and out when the bill is signed and his successor has been named.

General Pearson, while the reports that he will give the new man every assistance in his power.

General Pearson has expressed a desire to be placed on the retired list.

The State fight was the hottest of the year, the Governor winning by five votes. Just as had been the case in the House, a majority of the publicists sided with the Democratic Adjutant-General against the Democratic Governor.

Republicans, who voted with the Governor, were Senators Richard Gifford, Milton, Melane, Nichols, Riley and Williams.

Democrats, who opposed the Governor, were Henry D. Briggs, of Lowell, Edward Fisher, of Westford, and John F. Standish, of Hingham.

The action of Fisher had been directed for weeks longer than any other from Lowell—had been counted upon for Pearson.

Senator Briggs's course, on the other hand, came as a great surprise to the executive office.

The "Adjutant-General" bill began to Governor Walsh's request, in his inaugural address, for a renewal of the 1912 law giving the Adjutant-General a five-year tenure of office.

SENATOR FISHER FERRY.

General Pearson, then in command of an infantry company at Lowell, was made Adjutant-General in 1911 by Governor Pease. In the following year the friends of General Pearson, than whom there are few more respected gentlemen in Massachusetts, rallied around through the Legislature a five-year tenure bill.

Until that bill was signed by Governor Pease, every Governor for 14 years had enjoyed the right to name his own Adjutant-General.

In the early part of the year it was thought that General Pearson might resign; that he would not care to remain upon the staff of a Commander-in-Chief, who had just defeated him.

Only two months were made yesterday against the wishes of Governor Walsh as they were embodied in the pending bill. Three 1914-15 speakers were Senator Fisher of Westford, Democrat, and Senator Briggs of Chelsea, Republican.

Remarks in favor of giving Governor Walsh an Adjutant of his own selection were made by Senators Zapp, Burleigh, James H. Brennan, Ladd, and McCarthy.

These gentlemen cannot work in harmony. Senator Burleigh, after a graceful, declared, "and it becomes the absolute duty of this body to see the situation, to give the Governor the Government's confidence, and to elect the Adjutant-General."

Senator Fisher was very, "this is a tragedy in the military history of Massachusetts," he declared, "and it is going to result in the Adjutant-General out of office. An Adjutant going to resign, General Pearson. That is what this bill amounts to."

CALLS IT "TRAGEDY."

"I call it a tragedy, a tragedy divided into three acts. The first act was staged just after the late election. In one of the rooms of the Hotel Lenox. Here the Governor was addressed upon the gold-brilliant type of office. The question was, 'How to improve the military, and to make it a better one.' The second act was the beginning of this tragedy. The third act was the end of it."

Fisher said that the President, but it is clear to me that the Senator from the Berkshires has been so successful as an orator for the Governor lately that he ought to be able to find out without much of a struggle.

Pastors at Capital Split Over Sunday

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Washington Pastors' Federation adjourned without voting on the question of inviting Billy Sunday to hold a revival service in Washington. As a result, it is said today, the pastors who are in favor of the invitation probably will make it independently.

Pennacook, N. H., Is Brim Full of Laughs

PENNA-COOK, N. H., April 23.—Story-telling soiree, in which every resident of the town is invited to attend and get off a good "yearn," are becoming quite popular here. They are held three times a week in different sections of the town. The town is in consequence full of good stories.

Business Men Plan Cleanup Campaign

A committee of the under-fifty of the Chamber of Commerce met in the evening of the cleanup week to be held May 2-9 and planned their campaign. They divided the city into districts and each one of the committee has charge of a section. The committee included: Charles A. Palmer, W. M. Cooke, Kenneth E. Smith, Harry B. Floyd and J. C. Welch.

'El Paso Captured,' Says Mexican Paper

EL PASO, Tex., April 23.—A copy of the Mexico City newspaper, "El Imparcial," received here, tells of the "capture" of El Paso by the combined forces of General Velasco, the Federal leader, and General Villa. The story says that the Americans were surprised and overwhelmed and that Velasco and Villa established headquarters at the leading hotel.

Prefers Blindness to Eye Operation

Rather than have one eye removed to prevent sympathetic ophthalmia, Giuseppe Nicotera, a laborer, prefers total blindness and loses $4 a week under the workmen's compensation act. The Industrial Accident Board has ordered payments to Nicotera to cease because of his fear of an operation for which the indemnity company was willing to pay.

Curley Named Cadets Before Retiring

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Owing to the fact that Mayor Curley made several nominations for Annapolis and West Point before retiring as representative, Congressman Callahan will appoint to either of the two national academies unless the appointment of Mayor Curley fall in their entrance examination.

The action of Fisher had been directed for weeks longer than any other from Lowell—had been counted upon for Pearson.

Senator Briggs's course, on the other hand, came as a great surprise to the executive office.

The "Adjutant-General" bill began to Governor Walsh's request, in his inaugural address, for a renewal of the 1912 law giving the Adjutant-General a five-year tenure of office.

SENATOR FISHER FERRY.

General Pearson, then in command of an infantry company at Lowell, was made Adjutant-General in 1911 by Governor Pease. In the following year the friends of General Pearson, than whom there are few more respected gentlemen in Massachusetts, rallied around through the Legislature a five-year tenure bill.

Until that bill was signed by Governor Pease, every Governor for 14 years had enjoyed the right to name his own Adjutant-General.

In the early part of the year it was thought that General Pearson might resign; that he would not care to remain upon the staff of a Commander-in-Chief, who had just defeated him.

Only two months were made yesterday against the wishes of Governor Walsh as they were embodied in the pending bill. Three 1914-15 speakers were Senator Fisher of Westford, Democrat, and Senator Briggs of Chelsea, Republican.

Remarks in favor of giving Governor Walsh an Adjutant of his own selection were made by Senators Zapp, Burleigh, James H. Brennan, Ladd, and McCarthy.

These gentlemen cannot work in harmony. Senator Burleigh, after a graceful, declared, "and it becomes the absolute duty of this body to see the situation, to give the Governor the Government's confidence, and to elect the Adjutant-General."

Senator Fisher was very, "this is a tragedy in the military history of Massachusetts," he declared, "and it is going to result in the Adjutant-General out of office. An Adjutant going to resign, General Pearson. That is what this bill amounts to."

CALLS IT "TRAGEDY."

"I call it a tragedy, a tragedy divided into three acts. The first act was staged just after the late election. In one of the rooms of the Hotel Lenox. Here the Governor was addressed upon the gold-brilliant type of office. The question was, 'How to improve the military, and to make it a better one.' The second act was the beginning of this tragedy. The third act was the end of it."

Fisher said that the President, but it is clear to me that the Senator from the Berkshires has been so successful as an orator for the Governor lately that he ought to be able to find out without much of a struggle.

HUERTA'S FIRST ABOVE IS TO SAVE HIMSELF

HUERTA'S FIRST ABOVE IS TO SAVE HIMSELF

By ALFRED HENRY LEWIS.
WASHINGTON, April 28.—Gradually, if not gracefully, we are forgetting the fathers, and from government by representation, such as they conceived and fought for, it is fast changing to government by committee, by convention, by commission and by conference.

There was little or less war talk today at the Capitol and about the hotel corridors. Not that folk had lost their interest. They THOUGHT war, but were silently being choked by falter.

If you really desire to hear an expression of militant Americanism, which will scorch like a flame, get Vice-President Marshall to open his heart. Were his present feelings printed they would hardly please the White House.

It is a pity Mr. Marshall finds that in his Vice-presidency which causes a loss of voice. He is in it, but can't get a word out of him for publication. To be Vice-President—explains—like being in a state of catatony. You are perfectly aware of what is going forward around you while powerless to take part.

The three little "mediators" report that Huerta has said that—like some middle-aged baron, "he will win." It is that he, true, that Huerta has said that he must be conveyed safely abroad. He is a leader of ships and "protected" from the excited country.

HUERTA'S ADVANTAGE.
If Huerta has lost all hope of forcing by insult, bloodshed and outrage an American advance upon the City of Mexico, it might well be that he would accept, without further terms, necessary to save his brandy-soaked skin and carry him into the country where he could live out the drunken remnant of his days and spend millions he has stolen.

Huerta will agree to nothing like "mediation," or consent to anything which would place him in a position of mean safety in first guaranteed from not alone the mob, but Villa and Zouloa.

The "mediators," at Mr. Bryan's suggestion, will present a new scheme for governing Mexico by American delegates. It is to be taken from every faction, and these—pending a regular election—are to furnish rules of control.

It is a precious plan, truly! You might as well talk of ruling a snowstorm, or a confederacy, or the ocean tides, by commission. The trouble during the heat of the day gave off an almost unbearable stench.

In some instances men were dragged away from their plantations, their families being left behind and protected from poor ranch hands, who could not be trusted to make any spirited defence against bandit forays.

AMERICAN WOMAN'S STORY.
Mrs. M. Riley, the wife of an American who was employed as a railway conductor on the National lines, was one of the refugees. She told the following story:

"Practically all of the American men were taken from their ranches in the southwestern part of this state (Vera Cruz) and sent to prison. With the men out of the way the bandits would wander through the ranch houses at will, plundering them of all valuable possessions. The safes in the ranch offices were generally broken open and the contents carried to the nearest settlement, where they were dynamited. Then would begin a squabble among the men over a division of the spoils.

"With the men out of the way the bandits would wander through the ranch houses at will, plundering them of all valuable possessions. The safes in the ranch offices were generally broken open and the contents carried to the nearest settlement, where they were dynamited. Then would begin a squabble among the men over a division of the spoils.

"Then fighting Mexicans, killing couples of men and women, and the scene was a much more perilous task.

"These quarrels often resulted in murder, but murder had lost all of its gruesome aspect among these Mexicans arrested whole families without discrimination. I know of sixty-three Americans being imprisoned at Tierra Blanca. For a time mob rule held sway there, and it may have been a good thing that the Americans were behind the protection of stone walls, even if these were prison walls.

"When we came through from Colonia Molina the women were all herded in a coal car and the men were placed upon freight flat cars. The coal cars were used to give us protection, for they had wooden walls sheathed with sheet iron which would have acted as armor against rifle bullets directed against the train. When the women had left their homes upon a minute's notice they were crowded together in these cars. Some of them were in their bare feet. A few of the children were clothed as scantily they might as well have been stark naked.

HOMER ATTACKED.
"Among the women prisoners in the Cordoba jail was Mrs. Sidney M. Jones of Vista Nova. Her home was attacked by 'Federal' one night and looted. Mrs. Jones was forced to flee from her bed and clad only in a riding skirt, got up on her hands and knees and fled to her room. She was thus forced to ride for six hours.

"Arriving at Cordoba she was cast into jail. She begged for more clothing, but it was refused. She asked for better quarters than the foul, ill-smelling cells, because she feared for her baby's life, but her request was as they could among themselves.

"The 'pallete' provided for the comfort of the prisoners consisted of a handful of corn, rotting straw which

500 CATTLE FOR TEXAS RANGER, DEAD OR ALIVE

EL PASO, Texas, April 28.—Mexican. Federal forces have offered a reward of 500 cattle for the capture of any Texas ranger, dead or alive.

Refugees from the Mexican side of the river have brought the news that the Federal rancheros and sympathizers are offering any Mexican that number of cattle for every Texas ranger who is caught or killed and brought to the Mexican side. Every effort is being made to arouse feeling against the Americans. Trouble between the two races is expected in the Big Bend country to the east of El Paso.

Governor Colquhoun has announced that he will not wait for the United States to send troops to protect the Texas border from ravine and killing but will send his own troops to the border and if any acts of violence occur on the Mexican side that endangers the lives of Texans he will send his forces into Mexico to stop it.

VETERANS OF 56TH MASSACHUSETTS FAVOR ACTION IN MEXICO.
Speedy subjugation of Mexico to ensure respect for the Stars and Stripes were urged by members of the Fifty-sixth Massachusetts Regiment, who gathered in town for the first anniversary of their departure for Civil War battlefields, April 28.

Cherry Green, president of the Cambridge Trust Company and a brother of the late Lieutenant James Cox of the Fifty-eighth, that the old soldiers of the country "who have risked their lives in support of the flag, believe that immediate action should be taken to save the dignity of the Stars and Stripes in Mexico."

"President Wilson is a good man," declared Mr. Cox, "but he is a socialist."

I. N. S. PHOTOGRAPHER, MISSING TEN DAYS, SAFE IN VERA CRUZ

WASHINGTON, April 28.—A. K. Wallace, International News Service photographer, missing for ten days in Tampico, arrived in Vera Cruz late Tuesday, according to a dispatch from Rear Admiral Badger early today.

Admiral Badger reports that the wounds aboard the Solace are holding all they have gained and that critical cases are more hopeful. The wounded on the New Hampshire, Florida and Chester are doing well. Latest news of Charles F. Simon, Provost Marshal Major, from Mexico City, believed to be incarcerated by Huerta, was that on March 18 he made known his intention of sailing for the United States early in April.

Transport facilities escorted by the Healey and Warrington is expected at Vera Cruz today. The Vera Cruz radio station has been put in operation by the navy operators and is now in working order.

HUERTA PROPOSES TO CRUSH HIS ENEMIES

posure were compelled to stagger through a six-mile desert, where their flesh was torn by the sharp barbs of the cactus because the railroad tracks had been torn up by the Mexicans. Some of the families were accompanied by drunken, pale-faced children whose bodies were racked with fever and pain from the sufferings of the journey.

Many Thrown Into Jail.
When the vanguard of this starveling horde arrived on the outskirts a special train was hastily made up and dispatched to pick up the stragglers in the rear. In the group were twenty American women, a number of them carrying babies along over their shoulders in shawl-papoose fashion.

Those of the refugees who came from Cordoba said that the Americans in that district had been treated with marked brutality by Mexican 'Federal' soldiers, especially after the capture of Vera Cruz by United States soldiers and marines was announced.

Federal soldiers rounded up forty Americans men from ranches, plantations and mining camps, and threw them into jail at Cordoba.

"Why are we being arrested?" asked the Americans.

But the only reply they got was a volley of curses and insults. The 'Federal' raised suspicion, and, inasmuch as the forty said and did nothing, threatened to break the most inhuman barbarities upon their helpless captives.

TORTURED IN JAIL.
It was a favorite action of the drunken jailors to parade through the jail corridors with loaded muskets, brandish their weapons at the breast of a prisoner and then pretend to shoot the trigger.

Women screamed and fainted at the sight of these brutalities, which inasmuch as the Mexicans to fresh modes of torture.

Prison guards, sodden and drenched with liquor, took delight in standing at the cell doors hurling epithets and witticisms at the American women. The American men were helpless to stop these insults. The only thing they could do was to hope that the 'Federal' would relent or that an

ROOSEVELT SAYS REPEAL WOULD KILL PURPOSE OF CANAL

GOOSEBELL ATTACKS TREATY OBJECTION

LONDON, April 29.—Theodore Roosevelt is due at Manaus today. He has been three months in South America, and, beyond cable or mail, Manaus is 1,500 miles from the Amazon River in Brazil.

Hundreds of letters and cables, some of them a month old, wait him. In the light of his return to civilization, peculiar interest attaches to the following authoritative declaration made by Colonel Roosevelt some time ago.

The American correspondent learned today that Colonel Roosevelt is emphatically opposed to the plan to repeal the exemption clause in the Panama Canal bill. In a two-hour conversation with a magazine writer, Colonel Roosevelt went on record in favor of the exemption of American shipping in the canal, justifying his whole procedure in connection with the acquisition, building and operation of the canal.

—WAS DEALING WITH ROOSEVELT.

"The fact of the matter is," Colonel Roosevelt told his interviewer, "that there are times when the course is open against action. Colombia was trying to hold us up for an exorbitant price for the Canal Zone. It was robbery, pure and simple—and I dealt with it as a man should deal with such robbers."

"Naturally my action was bound to be criticized by people who sit before a fire in the night and must have something to criticize in lieu of any other occupation."

"I put Goetzlue in charge of the canal, because, like me, he is a man of action. Congress knows, with better eye fixed on approving congressional action, that Goetzlue is acting with authorization in his despotic role of the vice. Suppose he is? The main point is, he is acting and that is a lot better than talking every day in the week. I have needed a stout about our sacred dignity under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty for a long time, but now, of course, I cannot throw up my hands and merely surrender because of a politician's work."

The canal is ours at a cost to us of hundreds of American lives and millions. It has accomplished, in fact, what we have evolved, a record-breaking time, a job no nation on earth wanted to do. Goetzlue has evolved, in fact, a sense of operation that is perfect in comprehensiveness and efficiency, but here come the peace loving, who want to offend nobody, whether Congressmen from the Middle West who say "Oh, but we must not let American shippers benefit from such a position," or friends who do not like it and who have made up their minds to make the movement possible, must see the sense of American shipping."

"There was no politics in digging the canal. Under Goetzlue's administration there will be no politics in the operation of the canal. It is possible that politics will destroy the canal's purpose."

"I feel confident that the American people will never be the negative on the issue is clearly understood."

Write an Argument Against the Proposed Repeal of Free Panama Canal Tolls for American Ships and Win a Prize

The AMERICAN will make awards of $50, $25 and $10 for the best statements, of not more than three hundred words each, AGAINST REPEALING THE LAW WHICH NOW PERMITS AMERICAN COASTWISE SHIPS TO PASS THROUGH THE PANAMA CANAL FREE OF TOLL CHARGE.

Each competitor must send a copy of his or her argument to the United States Senators from his or her State and one copy to the BOSTON AMERICAN.

The copy sent to the AMERICAN must contain the full name and address of the writer and a statement that the writer PERSONALLY BELIEVES in the argument he or she writes, and that a copy of the argument has been sent to the Senators from the citizen's State.

All statements must be received on or before May 15, 1914.

Full information may be obtained bearing on both sides of this controversy by applying to your Senator or Congressman for the speeches in Congress on the subject, or by applying to Toll Contest Editor, BOSTON AMERICAN.

Murray Leaves for New York Debate

Leo M. Murray, 34, of Boston College, who recently vanquished the representatives of several Massachusetts colleges in the International Peace debate, held under the auspices of the World Peace Society, left for New York today to meet the representatives of the college in the next section. The prize is $250. The winner of the final contest at Lake Mohonk during the conference of the World Peace Society, will be admitted the champion of the United States.

Tufts and Jackson Phi Beta Officers

The Tufts and Jackson College Phi Beta Kappa elections were announced today. Those upon whom the student body were conferred were Miss Elizabeth May of West Somerville, Miss Margaret Buck of Lexington, Miss Hall of Malden and Francis A. Mansley of West Somerville. The initiation will be May 1. The officers will be Dr. Edward Raymond of Brookline and Mrs. Josephine Preston Trevelyan Marks will be the post.

ADMINISTRATION'S NEW ATTITUDE ON TOLLS

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Alarmed by the public outcry against surrender to the British demand on the canal tolls, the administration has made a sharp about-face. A declaration to the effect that in repealing this law the United States waives none of the rights it possesses under treaty or otherwise, is to be written into the repeal law if it passes.

When the bill passed the House March 21, the President told his visitors that he would listen to nothing in the shape of a compromise. He had not then heard from the country. The New Jersey special Congressional election had not been held. Emulating throughout the country had not then brought back tidings of the revolt of the American people.

The President stood fast for the House bill, which had received the White House O. K., after all the responsible Democratic leaders in the House repudiated it, until up to three or four days ago when there were indications of a reaction. This was forestalled by Senator Simmons, the President's lieutenant on the debate committee, within the last forty-eight hours, when he said that a declaration probably would be written into the repeal law.

So it happened as soon as the doors were closed yesterday and the committee took up the bill in executive session, that Senator Simmons, chairman of the Finance Committee, pulled from his pocket a carefully framed amendment, and offered it as an amendment. In its perfect form it read:

"The passage of this act, or any other act, shall not be construed as waiving, inspiring or affecting any rights possessed by the United States, under treaty or otherwise."

Senator Simmons did not say so at any time, but the plain inference from his action was that the proposed declaration had received the approval of the President.

The probabilities are that the bill will be reported without recommendation. Each faction may submit its views and the reasons upon which their respective positions are taken on the question of straight out repeal, the committee stands nine to five, as follows: For repeal—Simmons, Owen, Thornton and Chilton, Democrats; and Brandegee, Republican.

Against repeal—O'Gorman, Walsh, Shields and Thomas, Democrats; and Brister, Borah, Crawford, Perkins and Packer Republicans.

Thomas, Democrat, and Packer, Republican, may join the minority and vote for the declaration.

There will be no attempt to prevent prompt action.

RUSSELL MAKES BOSTON OPERA PARIS SUCCESS

PARIS, April 29.—Henry Russell, managing director of the Boston Opera, after a successful tour of the city, was elected today on hearing the opening performance praised as the best ever given in France. He said:

"Our success has surpassed even my most optimistic expectations."

"When you remember there are two opera houses in Paris, and that we are in the Paris Opera house, and that the brilliant audience which we had at the Champs Elysees on Saturday is something of which to be proud."

"Our success is going to continue, too. The number of subscribers already exceeds the estimates and there is a large demand for seats for future performances."

"The Paris public is showing its appreciation of our sincere effort to give it something different from what it has been accustomed. Every opera will be produced on a scale never before attempted in France."

"Tonight we give a dress rehearsal of Verdi's 'Otello,' with Mme. Melba as Desdemona and Ernest Rossi as Iago, and with Mme. Melba as Desdemona and Ernest Rossi as Iago."

"Realizing if I gave 'Otello' Tuesday night it would mean the absence of the Parisian critics from the premises I decided to postpone the event until next Tuesday."

"Mme. Melba spoke briefly but with enthusiasm. She declared:

"What a splendid enterprise it is, this coming of the Boston Opera Company to Paris! Do I think it will succeed? Of course it will! It has everything in its favor."

"Mr. Russell is a splendid director. He has superb talent. He has a wonderful company of artists and he is supported by unlimited capital. What more could be asked?"

Wonderful Short Stories

A Love Story of the Forest

Idyllic, charming, thrilling. The first of a series
By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

Mr. Chambers writes the most alluring love stories of the day. But into this new series of amorous adventures in the forests he has put something more. They are big with the spirit of "all outdoors," and they compel admiration for the little band of men who are striving to conserve and rebuild the national resources. He calls the series "The Progress of Janet."

A Woman's Great Problem

"The sin that ye do ye must pay for" is the motif of this tale
By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

He has never before brought his literary skill and finesse into play on a more delicate problem than the one in this story. Read it and see whether you think the woman is justified in not telling—and what about the man? Could their lives ever be happy with this barrier of deceit between them? He calls the story "Secrets."

REBELS MAY GET LAST WORD IN THE CAPITAL

[illegible]

The Mexicans can continue to live in peace and harmony with their neighbors and other countries would have been better off if they had never existed. Without money, without credit, financially shattered by the formidable forces of America—if nothing more unfortunate than the depression—these people to resume her terribly normal life of fratricidal struggle until the final day.

MEXICAN FLAGS EVERYWHERE.

The capital took today as its motto "No flag except the Mexican." The hoisting of flags, which permits being taken foreigners are prodigious with the exception of the American flag raised to their carriage. Americans carry them away, display the flag of all nationalities even on their own ships. Last night the celebration required a number of temporary city lights. The crowd was so large that the streets were crowded.

In the provinces, which are more or less isolated, enthusiasm remains in the vicinity. The celebration was warmly welcomed. The pupils of the naval college,

REFUGEES DENOUNCE BRYAN AND "PEACE"

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Senators and Representatives here today have been deluged today with messages from the Mexican government. The latest, demanding action in Mexico City, is a demand for the extradition of the man claiming that, unless the United States acts, they will never be able to leave the country.

"No white man will be safe in Mexico," they assert, "unless respect for the rights of the colored man is guaranteed."

Refugees, for the most part, are men and women who have left behind them a life of poverty and public ally they possess.

DECEIT AND EVASION IN MEDIATION PLANS

By W. N. TAFT,
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service at Washington, D.C.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Victoriano Huerta, dictator of Mexico, is pursuing his usual tactics. His policy of deceit and evasion is unchanged. The envoys of Argentina, Brazil and Chile, who proffered mediation to bring about peace in Mexico, are therefore the most puzzled diplomats in Washington today.

NO STRINGS TO HIS NOTIFICATION.

Huerta has had his foreign minister announce to the United States that he will accept mediation by the "A B C" nations of South America provided that the United States will first declare its attitude toward the Huerta regime. France and England select a seventh nation to act as umpire to decide between the two sides. He has notified the Spanish ambassador in Washington that he will accept mediation by Spain. He has notified to Ambassador Riano the dictator attached no strings.

The United States plan is the envy of the Latin-American nations that believe they are proceeding with their plans for effecting peace. None will predict that these plans will be successful.

The diplomats of the Great Europe—pain powers are watching developments closely. They are under no illusions. They have given their approval to such action as the project.

"When My Ship Comes In"

Now for the story of America's bankrupt little show called Broadway, where the wages of sin and success are spent. A man's life, woman-wise, is the "Great White Way." A tale of the tight game with the pot bet taken off. Gouverneur M. knows his New York. So does Charles Dana, and his illustrations are true to life.

NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE OPENS SEASON TODAY

OPENING GAMES.

Portland at Worcester.
Worcester at Lowell.
Lowell at Lawrence.

The "little old" New England League will inaugurate its opening season today in four cities. The Class B organization will open its season with Worcester at Portland, Worcester at Lowell, Lowell at Lawrence, and Lawrence at Portland. The league was organized in 1908 and has since that time been one of the most successful of its kind in the New England States. It has a membership of 12 clubs and a total attendance of over 1,000,000 spectators. The league is now in its 10th year and has a record of 10 consecutive seasons of success. The opening games will be played at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The Worcester-Portland game will be the first of the season. Worcester is the defending champion and will be looking for a repeat performance. Portland is a new club and will be looking for a good start. The Lowell-Lawrence game will also be a close one. Lowell is the defending champion and will be looking for a repeat performance. Lawrence is a new club and will be looking for a good start. The Worcester-Lowell game will be the first of the season. CREW OF DEFIANCE ARRIVES AT BATH

By HARRY C. THOMAS.

BATH, Me., April 23.—The crew of the Yankee cup candidate, Defiance, building at the yards of the Bath Iron Works here, arrived today on board the tug schooner yacht Iroquois, owned by C. Walter Clark of Philadelphia.

The big racing schooner that has been up and down the New England coast for the past few summers racing with the schooner yacht Elena will be for today the Defiance after the cup boat is launched May 11.

The fast power tender Iroquois, Jr., capable of making a speed of at least twenty-five miles an hour, will be carried along with the schooner yacht, which will also be used in the trial races in connection with the Defiance's racing.

NEW SHIP IN HARVARD EIGHT MADE BY WRAY

Another surprise was in store for the Crimson crewmen when they reported for practice today.

Wray was given his first try-out in the varsity boat Monday, was sent back to No. 4 in the "seconds" and Morgan, who had been rowing No. 4 in the varsity, was again given that seat.

This change will probably be temporary as Gardner, the regular No. 4, will be back by the end of the week. M. Middendorf was sent back to No. 4 from No. 6 in the "seconds."

The new crew of varsity as it rowed worked out satisfactorily. They rowed eight miles, yet did not work together as smoothly as Coach Wray wished.

The swing was lacking, so badly in fact that the boat did not space well at all. The oarsmen are beginning to let up on their catch and it is beginning to get sloppy. Coach Wray emphasized this upon the men. Toward the end of practice, slight improvement was noted. The men are also showing a little carelessness in their rowing.

The new order of first varsity is: M. Middendorf, No. 1; W. Wray, No. 2; J. Morgan, No. 3; C. Gardner, No. 4; T. Brown, No. 5; J. Smith, No. 6; J. Jones, No. 7; J. White, No. 8.

NAPS ARE "HARD LUCK KIDS," SAYS TY COBB

Written for the Boston American.

By TY COBB.

Did you ever see anything like the hard luck the Naps are having? Detroit and Cleveland always have been bitter rivals on the diamond and most Detroit fans would rather see the Birmingham club than any other in the league, but just the same I can't help feeling sorry for our neighbors across the lake.

As though it wasn't tough enough for Birmingham to have Chapman and Leibold crippled up when the season started, he had to put himself out of commission with a wrenched muscle and loss of teeth with a broken finger. That is about the most despicable exhibition of the "Naps" I have ever seen. But the Naps are plugging along just the same and are making a fair show. I admire their gameness and hope that some day the tide of fortune will turn in their favor.

Browns Showing a Lot of Gincer.

St. Louis, another team that I have seen work in showing a lot of gincer this season and ought to put up a stiff argument against all the clubs. The Browns haven't either the offensive or defensive strength to rate as contenders for the flag, but they certainly seem to be hustling every time.

They have several good pitchers and if Paul Hittinger is not taken away from them in a pinch, he will be able to make trouble every time he works. But he is one of the best pitchers in the league and has been particularly effective against the Tigers. So far as we are personally concerned, he could have stayed with the Tigers until yesterday.

This afternoon when the "Brooks" are getting the type of a lot of fortune telling about some of the players who have been "let go" just admitted to the "baseball club."

Some of the players have come up from the sand lots so fast that they haven't had a chance to acquire much polish or worldly wisdom en route, and there is always a laugh or two for the veterans at the expense of a newcomer about this time of year.

Some of the funniest stuff I ever have heard of in baseball has happened in the "baseball club."

Miss Mae O'Loughlin of Charleston today accepted the challenge of Miss Mary White of New York for a game of bridge. Miss White, who has been a making a name for herself in the game, is a well-known player in the city.

CRASH

By M. M. WALKER.
LOS ANGELES, April 29.—Paddy Walsh bounced three or four thousand lightning bolts off the anatomy of Leach Cross and danced away with a 20-round decision over the unhappy New York lightweight last night.

As a scientific jabber the English fighter has the cleverness of a magician and the speed of a hare, but his punches are harmless.

In Cross he had an opponent who was seriously injured against the cleverness and who appeared very dangerous from the start of the bout.

The fight was called at 9:15, such officiating was included in during the opening rounds. Cross landed three leads to the mouth and four freestyle even at the close, inflicting a bleeding nose. Cross was more than holding himself even.

In the third round the most part stood close in and jabbed, the Englishman having nothing to brag of from the miter.

The fourth saw Walsh, after taking several hard jabs on the nose, staying in close and working a consistent right to the kidney.

The fifth saw Walsh scoring with rights and lefts as well. He was fully warmed up now and going to his old-time form.

CROSS WORKING IN TENTH.
The sixth was the same way. Cross being outboxed all the way. From this point to the fall of the tenth round Walsh never allowed his man to draw a long breath, but made every move a looking lesson to the New Yorker.

Walsh landed to the chin so often in the eleventh that the continual jab, as light as they were, had Cross wobbling at the bell. Cross woke up in the twelfth but got into several solid rights to the face. A short left to the jaw dropped Cross in the thirteenth, but he was up immediately. Cross tried to even up, but his right swing for the close all went wild.

CROSS UNABLE TO LAND.
In the following four rounds the mugging was no more and features that the house was blinding the men over every inch of the way.

The eighth and ninth rounds of spectators were leaving the building, an understudy was in the mill. Cross appeared to be trying in the eleventh, but could not hold himself together. For even with the last Walsh continued to outpoint Cross in the twelfth and final round.

NEW BOOING BILL FINISHES CRASHING INTO GOOD SHAPE

By JACK CONWAY.
THIS bill to legalize boxing in Massachusetts, which has been reported favorably by the Committee on Legal Affairs, will not be submitted to the Committee on Ways and Means. The bill will then be sent before the Senate Judiciary Committee and if it passes that organization it will go to the Senate.

The boxing bill calls for eight-round bouts with six-ounce gloves. If the boxing bill becomes law, the glove game will be governed by a committee of the legislature. They will be required to make all rules which are necessary to regulate the sport. The expenses of the commission will be limited to $100 a year. This would include the salary of the secretary of the commission.

The boxing bill requires that a percentage of the gate receipts at the various shows be turned over to the state while the surplus would be paid to the state to use as it saw fit.

There was a hearing held on Monday last at which it was defeated in the Senate by a vote of 19 to 15.

SOX ANXIOUS TO GET GOING IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Red Sox are anxious to get busy on the diamond. The continued rainy weather, which means enforced loafing, is getting on their nerves.

Today the opening game against the Highlanders is again on the card, and the Boston boys are out to make up for lost time.

Lanning is well pleased with his team, despite its lowly position at present in the race.

Heine Wagner, the Sox shortstop, is in with the team and it is rumored that he is out of the game for all time.

Wagner is at his home in New Rochelle, suffering from an aggravated attack of rheumatism in his right forearm.

Joe Wood, according to President Lanning, has so far recovered from his illness that he will be in the line-up when the Sox next visit New York.

Mr. Lanning denied that he has any consideration of the Sox involving the transfer of either Reiser or Huggins to the New York Highlanders.

W. R. Hearst's Message on Mediation and President Wilson's Attitude

Editor Boston American:

Apparently there are in the Administration at Washington certain vain, opinionated, obstinate men who think more of their own pride and prejudices than they do of the nation's welfare. These gentlemen have never been disturbed by the murder of American men and women and children in Mexico. They have never been moved by any outrage to our nation and to the citizens of our nation. They seem to be merely personally resentful at Huerta, because Huerta has made their diplomacy ridiculous, because Huerta has received their repeated ultimata with indifference, apparently realizing that these incompetents at Washington had neither the courage, nor the character, nor the patriotic sentiment to enforce any demands which the various ultimata contained.

Therefore, the President and his Secretary of State are piqued at Huerta. Their pride has been hurt. Their sense of their own importance, of their personal dignity has been affected, and, therefore, they seem obsessed with the desire to revenge the slight which Huerta has put upon them, and, oblivious to all the other crying needs of this serious situation.

To a certain extent, therefore, Wilson is right when he says the war is not between the United States and Mexico. The war that Wilson is endeavoring to promote is a war between Wilson and Huerta, and that is apparently all that the professor in the White House can see through the goggles of his prejudice.

The situation that is interesting the people of the United States, however, is not the personal pique of the President and Mr. Bryan. It is not the injury to their personal pride. It is the affront to the American nation, the murder of American citizens in Mexico and the humiliation of American citizens in the United States.

In this murder of American citizens in Mexico and these insults to American citizens at home, Villa and Carranza are as criminally responsible as Huerta. In fact, Villa and Carranza are more criminally responsible, because nine-tenths of the murders of American men, the outrages upon American women, the slaughter of American children and destruction of American property have occurred in the sections which Villa and Carranza control, and have been committed by the bandits who call themselves "Constitutionalists."

The citizens of the United States, therefore, the patriotic people of this country, do not wish merely to depose Huerta and put a worse murderer in his place. They do not wish to limit themselves to the punishment of Huerta, who, in spite of his evil acts, has to a certain extent endeavored to protect the citizens of the United States and other nations.

Our people are specially and particularly anxious to punish all Mexican murderers of American citizens, to avenge all outrages upon our people and our country.

Our people are further anxious to end the state of anarchy in Mexico, and to end it for the benefit of the citizens of all nations and for civilization as a whole. They are anxious to restore peace and order in a country which is at our door and for which we are in a sense morally responsible as well as, under our construction of the Monroe Doctrine, politically responsible. We are anxious to perform our full obligation to society and to civilization as the guardian of this Western Hemisphere. We are anxious to make this adjoining country even as the United States is, a haven of peace and security for our own people and for all the people of the world.

To do our full duty to our own murdered fellow-citizens, to our own nation and to the nations of the world, we should invade Mexico and occupy and pacify it and annex it. To make it like the United States we should make it part of the United States.

The country of Mexico is one of the richest in the world. It is one of the most favored in fertility, in climate, in mineral and agricultural wealth, in natural advantages of every kind. Under our liberal and enlightened government the same intelligent, progressive people who have made the United States the greatest country in the world would throng into Mexico and make the United States of Mexico equally great, equally prosperous and equally progressive, until those lands, united under our flag, would be the wonder country of the world, the mightiest and most marvellous nation of all history, the treasury of wealth, the temple of liberty, enlightenment and progress, the throne of civilization.

Surely this situation, in which the destiny of the United States and of the whole world is involved, demands something more than a personal expression of Mr. Wilson's pique and prejudice. In this crisis our Government at Washington should be guided by the great heart and the great mind, by the imagination and inspiration and devotion of the American people.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

THE FLAG MUST BE UPHOLD AND EVIL CONSEQUENCES ENDED

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—The dignity and honor of this nation cannot be belittled. At the first insult to our citizenship we should have made a demand for reparation. If our flag is at value then its protection should be for those wherever they may be. And if we are to condone insults, then where is the American character of our manhood? We are now asserting, demanding, honor and respect. We should not retreat. And if war it must be, then the end is self-respect. The dignity of the flag and American manhood must be upheld, and to that end we should stand firm, unflinching.

The power and strength of our character should exert righteousness.

Mexico should come under our domination. And then as she does may there be peace and order.

For ignorance spells anarchy and intelligence progress. And when we have such conditions to contend with as those existing in Mexico then it is our duty to end them.

MAX HENRY NEWMAN.

COMIC OPERA

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—We are making ourselves the laughing stock of the world. To enforce our demand that the flag be respected, we send a whole fleet of battleships to Tampico. Then we move our forces to Vera Cruz and occupy it. The remaining ships steam out to sea and leave Tampico unprotected.

The mob rises and is about to wreck the hotels. The Americans are powerless, having little ammunition. An officer of a German cruiser quells the disturbance by threatening to land a force of German marines. If this is not comic opera, I would like to know what is. CHARLES FORD.

THANKS FOR STAND ON TOLDS

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—I want to thank you for the noble stand you have taken in regard to the tolls question. How can any true American think otherwise? Yours for America, now and always. P. P. ROWELL.

An Englishman's Letters

From J. Percy Smith-Brown (pronounced Smyth-Brown), Esquire, Hotel Pazzaz, to H. Etherington, Billingham-Cholmondeley (pronounced Bellam - hyphen - Chumpy), Esquire, The Towers, Charltoncum-Rardy, Cirencester (pronounced Pastil), near Stoke Pennington the Lesser, Hants, England, near Europe.

DEAR OLD TOP—This is an extraordinary country, even my honor, a most extraordinary country.

Astonishing instances of ingratitude I met with yesterday. I saw a blight standing under a large piece of loose plaster that was about to drop on his nose. Although I didn't know the person, I determined to waive all formality and warn him, as I shouted, "Tuck in your topknot!"

The bully fathomed gazed at me with a look of amazement, and while he was gazing the plaster hit the beggar a quite severe rap on the nose. When he got up he shook his fist at me and rudely demanded why I hadn't warned him. When I pointed out that I had clearly advised him to move his head out of harm's way, the fellow positively foamed at the mouth with anger. He was quite evidently trying to say something, but as I moved away in a dignified manner I could only catch choking gasps of "Bug-ho!" Never said a word about daring my head.

The lighter must either have been dull or he didn't understand plain English. And "bug-ho!" old son, I jargon, I call it.

I can't help relating another instance, though, old chap. You know there's nothing in the world like a good old English breakfast. We've been having well cooked beef on breakfasts of fried sole, chops, roasts of lamb, fried eggs, cold beef, toast, whortleberry jam, marmalade and ale or stout. Breakfast like that makes a man feel like a king. Well, plunging into the day's work, so in the hotel office room the other morning I asked the maid for a bit of kippers.

"This ain't a Hungarian hush-house," he responded.

More from his manner than his words, I gathered the fellow meant there was no kippers to be had, so I said, "Then bring me some bumble and squawk."

"Bring me a large helping of bumble and squawk," I repeated eagerly, "kiss," scolding the fellow meant "were all out of that, but I can get on automobile with a bang." Needless to say I departed with a good deal of stuff. However, there are so many taverns here that it is very easy to get a different one for each meal. A bit of beer, old Oxford, fancy me a never receiving proper credit as dear old Oxford, fancy I have a bit of brains, what? GRACE.
